Helping Hoosier Families

Property Tax Relief

The Indiana General Assembly has passed a series of reforms that help build on the tax restructuring that took place in 2002. The reforms contained in the package approved by the legislature will provide nearly $500 million in property tax cuts for homes, businesses and farms.

The deadline to file for the homestead credit and other credits and deductions was extended, which will help 95,000 Hoosier homeowners receive state property tax relief.

Counties will be able to offer installment payment plans to help taxpayers with larger bills, and penalties for late payments can be waived. Property taxpayers will have up to 45 days to appeal a bill.

While these provisions will help ease the burden on property taxpayers, I am disappointed we were unable to include additional protections that were approved by the House.

The House reforms would have given homeowners and farmers a larger share of property tax relief and provided additional relief for senior citizens. The House plan would have created a "farmstead" deduction to protect agricultural land owners while helping owners of older homes who have been harmed by the reassessment.

While these provisions were killed in the Indiana Senate, House Democrats will pursue these reforms when the legislature returns in January. The bills outlining our proposals have been filed and are ready for consideration.

The General Assembly's actions to date have demonstrated a bipartisan understanding that more must be done to help taxpayers, particularly those who own homes and farms. We must continue to protect their interests throughout the 2004 session.
